Verity's 2009 Journey to the Heart team

Journey to the Heart 2009

Verity Institute would like to thank Dr. Bill Gothard for sharing his hospitality and wisdom during this year's Journey to the Heart. The spiritual retreat began our school year with a focus on God like never before.

"During my time in northern Michigan at Journey to the Heart, God opening the eyes of my heart to see again how much I need him..." —W. Lindsey

"Before going to Journey, I thought I knew what peace and joy were, but this time I was literally bubbling with both." —A. Bricker.

"Journey to the Heart was a great learning experience for me, and I cannot think of a better way to the start of the school year." —T. Goodwell

"Journey was a time of refreshment and delighting in my Father [God], knowing that in my weakness, He is made strong. And as I surrender, I can testify that His grace is sufficient—the most beautiful testimony of all." —S. Farynyk

Orientation 2009 Overview

September 1st marked the beginning of many things. A new class, a new semester, and a continued working of God in the lives of students and staff alike. Verity Institute cried out for a class with a heart for God and His Word, and our prayers were answered on both accounts.

The new 2011 class nearly doubled the size of the continuing class of 2010, and has shown a sincere love for Christ.

The first week of orientation, Journey to the Heart, served to bring hearts together around the truth of Scripture. The second week students learned study techniques and reviewed Biblical worldview materials.

Their first academic endeavor was tackling Analyzing and Interpreting Literature. Though this was new material to many, but God provided good success for the first testing session. This week the 2011 class is studying for the Introduction to English Literature CLEP.

Verity's own Charity Larson, head of the Curriculum Development Department had this to say about the new class: "They are a very diligent class, their initiative is a pervading characteristic. Also they have a humble attitude, which is vital; to learn one must first be humble."

To say that the senior class and the 2011 students are bonding well would be an understatement indeed. Their eyes are fixed upon the kingdom of God and things eternal, their fellowship is sweet and their hearts are focused on the common goal of serving our Lord Jesus Christ. We can only look forward to what God will do both in the class of 2010 as well as the class of 2011.
